

Corn Crop Cut By Government; Stocks At Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government, seeking to reduce corn production this year, has imposed curbs on plantings in a big commercial producing area.

Corn supplies are at a near peak. Big stocks have accumulated in the hands of the Agriculture Department under price support operations.

Down 17 Per Cent

Secretary of Agriculture Benson late Wednesday announced acreage allotments for corn in a designated commercial corn-producing area. He called for a reduction of 17.4 per cent in plantings in the area from last year. The allotment was set at 46,995,504 acres compared with 56,819,428 acres planted last year.

The aim of the allotments is to limit production in the area to about two billion bushels compared with a normal production of at least 2,400,000,000 bushels.

Last year's U.S. corn production was 3,176,000,000 bushels. The department forecasts a carryover of old crop corn of at least 20,000,000 bushels when the 1954 crop is harvested. The bulk of it is expected to be stored under price support programs.

Michigan Included

The commercial area includes 834 major corn-producing counties in Arkansas, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Farmers in the commercial area will be free to abide by or ignore their allotments, but only those who comply with them will be 90 per cent of parity or about $1.60 a bushel.

There will be no allotments outside the commercial area, but its farmers will be eligible for price supports at only 67½ per cent of parity, or an average of about $1.20.

Detroit To Curb School Rowdies

DETROIT (AP)—Concerned school officials and police set forth on a disciplinary and morale-building program today in an effort to curb young hoodlums.

Rowdism in schoolyards and at high school athletic contests led to the move. At least a dozen youngsters were in police custody. Last week a high school basketball player was stabbed by another youth and seriously hurt. A second knifing and other incidents have followed.

Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard announced a program of discipline after a conference with top level schoolmen and juvenile authorities.

The possession of knives or other weapons by school children is to be banned. A city ordinance banning sales to juveniles of any knife with a blade over 2½ inches long also was proposed.

At the same time parents were called on to do a better job of upbringing.

Earlier, the city's public school system banned all night-time football and basketball games. This was a direct result of the basketball player's knifing.

Community tensions have been blamed for much of the trouble. Both white and Negro children have been involved.

Senate Approves U.S. Participation In Lakes Seaway

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, after slapping down St. Lawrence seaway legislation for two decades, has finally taken a huge step towards authorizing the United States to join Canada in carrying out the project.

But after an enabling measure sailed through the Senate Wednesday night on a 51-33 vote, Canadian government informants raised a serious question as to whether their country was still interested in U. S. participation.

Bargain For U. S.?

In Ottawa, government sources said that country still would push for an all-Canadian seaway on her side of the boundary river. The Canadian government was represented as feeling that the United States, spending 105 million dollars, would be getting too much of a bargain in joint control of navigation and shipping tolls.

They explained Canada already has spent that much on locks and is prepared to put up 300 million dollars for navigation facilities.

The bill approved by the Senate would permit the United States to join with Canada in building a 27-foot-deep St. Lawrence River channel linking the Great Lakes to the Atlantic.

House Unpredictable

The bill, strongly supported by President Eisenhower and the Joint Chiefs of Staff because of the project's claimed importance to national defense, now goes to the House.

Because the House has never considered the bill, observers were at a loss to predict its chances there.

The bill approved by the Senate would establish a St. Lawrence Development Corp., with authority to issue 105 million dollars in bonds.

Tolls on shipping would be expected to retire these in 50 years or less.

Kidnaper Takes Cugat Jewelry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bandleader Xavier Cugat and his voluptuous wife, vocalist Abbe Lane, told police they were kidnaped and robbed of nearly $20,000 in jewelry and cash Wednesday night by a masked gunman who lay in wait for them in Cugat's car.

The couple had just finished a performance at an auto show in Pan Pacific Auditorium and were on their way to a movie. As they rolled slowly out of the parking lot in Cugat's expensive white convertible, the bandit rose up from the back seat. He wore a white handkerchief over his face and held a .45 caliber automatic, Cugat said.

Cugat reported the gunman made them drive to another nearby parking area and took a $9,000 10-karat solitaire and a $2,500 diamond wedding ring from Miss Lane, and a $2,600 wristwatch, $5,000 diamond ring and $150 in cash from the bandleader.

The gunman then ordered them out of the car and cautioned them: "Keep walking. Don't look back or I'll drill you."

The car was still on the parking lot when Cugat returned there with police.

Annual Wage Not Favored By GM, President Says

By DAVID J. WILKIE

Auto Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The proposed annual wage in the auto industry is going to be extremely difficult to implement, according to Harlow H. Curtice, General Motors president.

Curtice told a news conference Wednesday that the proposal involves many complex questions. He indicated, without specifically saying so, that GM is not too kindly disposed toward the proposal.

He cited GM's efforts to stabilize employment throughout the years, and said industry generally has paid more than 18 billion dollars into unemployment compensation funds throughout the nation. General Motors itself, he said, has paid more than 240 million dollars into these funds.

Eisenhower Budget Cuts Spending By 5¼ Billion

Prison System Tightens Up On Felon Trustees

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING (AP)—Philip Keywell, former Detroit Purple Gangster, today was ordered to Southern Michigan Prison by the Corrections Commission.

At the same time, the commission clamped the lid on transfers outside the regular prison system without its specific approval.

Keywell had been assigned by former Corrections Commissioner Earnest C. Brooks to a trusty position on a Detroit House of Correction chicken farm.

Killed Boy In 1930

He was sentenced to life from Detroit in 1930 for killing a boy. The commission adopted this policy:

1—No state prisoner may be assigned outside the three prisons, Cassidy Lake camp, the conservation camps or Detroit House of Correction without specific commission approval.

2—The trusty status of all prisoners will be decided on the basis of security and not on favoritism, race, creed or any other considerations.

3—All transfers within the system must be approved by Director Gus Harrison or John J. Spencer, newly appointed assistant director in charge of prisons.

Assigned To Sheriff

The policy was mainly prompted by the discovery that Sanford Anderson, who had been sentenced to prison for forgery from Berrien County, had been assigned back to Berrien County by Brooks to work in the sheriff's office.

Anderson has since been returned to the trusty division of Southern Michigan Prison.

Harrison reported that a diligent search had failed to reveal any other similar cases.

Separate Air Force Academy Assured Approval In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House approval seemed assured today for establishment of a separate Air Force academy.

Debate was completed Wednesday, without final action, on a bill to create the air West Point and authorize 26 million dollars to start work. It met only scattered opposition. The Senate has not yet acted.

The House approved, 39-18, an initial authorization of 25 million dollars to start work on a permanent academy and a maximum of one million to set up a temporary school at an existing air installation. The 26 million will have to be appropriated later.

Loaded Snowballs Split Up Board At Adrian School

ADRIAN (AP)—Stones packed in snowballs indirectly caused the resignations of two members of the Prairie School District board. John Lassey and Mrs. Marjorie Lindsey handed in resignations Tuesday protesting board action in supporting punishment meted out against 13 youngsters who put stones in snowballs they threw on school grounds.

The children, all elementary school pupils, were ordered to write a number of "I will not throw snowballs" sentences. But before they had completed the punishment, most were caught firing the rock-filled snowballs again.

This time the teachers, Mrs. Gladys Beekel and Mrs. Mary Norton, doubled the punishment.

Some of the children took the task home to finish. And some of the parents protested. They were supported by Lassey and Mrs. Lindsey.

However, the other board members, Clarence Ehinger, William Ringwald and Raymond Everiss Sr., backed the teachers.

First Nuclear Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The atomic submarine Nautilus was launched successfully today with Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower christening the world's first nuclear engine submersible.

A fog had lifted and the sun shone brightly as the sleek vessel slid down the ways into the Thames River.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said during the launching ceremonies the craft symbolized both the "atomic thunderbolts" of defense and of a peaceful boon of nuclear power.

The Nautilus, besides being the biggest and most intricate submarine ever built, also is the costliest. The Navy and the EC will have spent an estimated 50 million dollars on the boat and her machinery by the time her commissioning date rolls around.

On a neighboring way is the beginning of the hull for the second nuclear submersible, the Sea Wolf. That boat will use a somewhat different type of atomic plant.

The Nautilus is about 340 feet long, with a peculiar blunt bow to give her a hoped-for underwater speed of 30 knots or better. "That is as fast as the speediest surface ships travel."

Lansing Lawmaker Has Fun On 2 Bits

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Joseph A. Cavanaugh (R-Mich.) got at least 25 cents worth of fun out of a quarter which was returned to him from the last legislative session.

Cavanaugh reported to House members Wednesday that a quarter he left on his desk was mailed to him by Rep. Hugo A. Nelson (R-Indiana).

"He was afraid if his wife found him with an extra quarter, she might think some lobbyist got to him," Cavanaugh said. "If my wife found me minus a quarter, she might think I was running around with some of the wild women down here."

Michigan Dries Demand Resignation Of New Liquor Commissioner

LANSING (AP)—The resignation of Anthony J. Rathnaw of Detroit as state liquor control commissioner was demanded today by the Michigan Temperance Foundation.

The foundation's secretary, Dr. E. C. Prettyman, declared Rathnaw had demonstrated "no conception of the nature and importance of his position" by advising the Legislature to end the state's liquor monopoly.

Dr. Prettyman requested Gov. Williams to secure Rathnaw's resignation "in the best interest of the state."

The capitol bubbled with Rathnaw's "confidential" recommendations for drastic changes in the liquor system, but no one appeared to take them too seriously.

Chairman George J. Burke and Kenneth J. Daniels, the third commissioner, went before the Senate Liquor Committee to declare briefly that they did not agree with Rathnaw's proposals.

Williams disavowed the proposals Wednesday.

Rathnaw, a Democrat, has served on the commission eight months.

He advocated turning the sale and distribution of liquor over to private interests, permitting all grocery stores to have beer-wine licenses, all drug stores to have liquor (SDD) licenses, stiffer violation penalties for licenses and allowing bars in large cities to stay open to 4 a. m.

State Legislature Gets Request To Unmask Lobbyists

LANSING (AP)—The House got a request today that it unmask the pressures behind proposed legislation.

Rep. Adrian De Boom (R-Owosso) introduced a resolution which would put on every bill the name of the lobbyist, pressure group or organization sponsoring the legislation.

Hide Behind Skirts

He conceded it probably would not pass this session, but said he wanted to get lawmakers thinking about the idea.

"My idea," De Boom said, "is that outside groups shouldn't hide behind the skirts of any legislator they get to introduce a bill. If the medical people or the lawyers want a bill, why shouldn't the public know they are behind it? The same goes for any state agency or outside group."

De Boom said that in Congress a member may state that he is introducing a bill by request of outsiders.

Bills introduced would: Forbid motorists to pass any school bus which has stopped to load or unload passengers.

Make it a crime to kill or molest owls, hawks or eagles unless they are destroying property.

Repeal the 1848 "blue laws" against conducting most business and entertainments on Sunday.

Give the State Civil Service Commission subpoena powers.

Reduce the maximum work week for municipal firemen from 73½ hours to 63 hours a week.

Impose a moratorium on mortgages and other debts of workers unemployed through emergencies, such as the Livonia plant fire.

Record Outlays Set Aside For Atomic Energy

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower laid a 65½-billion-dollar budget before Congress today, slashing 5¼ billion dollars from total spending but proposing record outlays for atomic energy, continental defense and overseas military aid.

Despite a 7½ per cent cut under estimated spending this year—also lowered—Eisenhower told Congress the government will wind up the 1955 fiscal year nearly three billion dollars in the red. Fiscal 1955 starts July 1.

Security Comes First

Although he proposed a broad program of tax law changes, he told Congress no further general tax cuts are justified at present.

His message said the budget was based on a "new concept" of security planning which places reliance on "the full exploitation of modern air power" and on "new weapons" to justify manpower and dollar defense cuts.

He proposed spending $2,425,000,000 next year for atomic energy. This increase of 225 millions over this year would bring atomic spending to "the highest point in our history," he said. He also said that since most atomic energy plant construction is complete, spending now would concentrate on "operations."

Higher Ceiling Needed

He set no figure for continental defense, but said outlays would be "greater than ever before in our history" to provide early warning and reaction to attack. Military aid would rise by 75 million dollars, he said, to a new peak of $4,275,000,000 for round-the-world assistance to friendly nations.

The President told Congress "there will be no way of operating within the present debt limit" of 275 billion dollars in the last six months of this year. Therefore, he said, he was renewing his request, stymied in the Senate last summer, for a higher ceiling.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told newsmen the administration would again ask for 290 billion dollars borrowing authority, a boost of 15 billions.

Both Humphrey and Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge, who met

Indian Guards Will Walk Out On 349 Rejected Prisoners

PANMUNJOM (AP)—If the Communists do not take back 349 pro-Red war prisoners—including 21 Americans—Indian guards will open the gates of their neutral zone stockade and walk away at midnight Friday, an Indian general said today.

"First we will have to tell the prisoners that their owners refuse to take them back," said Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya. "Then we will open the gate and we will tell our men to go back to their line."

The Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission conceded that if the prisoners refuse to leave their compound it would create a problem since neither Allied nor Red troops are permitted to enter Korea's demilitarized zone.

Thimayya told a news conference he planned to send another letter to the Communist high command asking the Reds to accept the return of the 21 Americans, 1 Briton and 327 South Koreans who chose to stay with the Communists.

In Washington, the Defense Department said the 21 Americans would be discharged as "undesirable" Friday.

24 Marines Drown—The Indian command returned 21,809 anti-Communist Chinese and Korean war prisoners to U.N. custody Wednesday and today.

About 10,000 Chinese sailed for Nationalist Formosa from Inchon today and about 4,000 remaining were to leave later. The 7,500 Koreans were moved by train to South Korean army centers.

In Inchon harbor a troopship loaded with Chinese POWs rammed a small craft loaded with U.S.

Marines and 24 Marines perished in the icy water.

The U. N. Command has promised all prisoners their freedom at midnight Friday (9 a. m. CST).

The Communists want all POWs held until a peace conference decides their future.

Most of the Chinese and Korean prisoners scheduled for freedom Saturday are expected to join the Nationalist and ROK armies.

No Letup In Cold Weather

Little reassurance, despite the spell of sunshine that has been prevailing most of the day, is given by S. E. Decker, of the Escanaba weather bureau. It's going to be a whole lot colder tomorrow morning than today's 3 below.

The mercury is going to huddle down to a shivering 10 below before tomorrow morning and it's more than likely to be much colder than that in the inland areas in this part of the state.

Escanaba's 3 below of this morning is mild compared with other parts of the country. Even fairly close at hand Sault Ste. Marie had -8, Park Falls, Wis., -24 and towns in Gogebic county, -20. The coldest spot in the country was Bemidji, Minn., with -47; Internal Falls, to the north was -42 and a number of places in Saskatchewan reported -50.

The cold wave has hit into the deep south with Fort Worth, Tex., reporting 18 degrees. In the mid-west Omaha, Nebr., had -13; Des Moines, Ia., -14; Havre, Mont., -37 and Williston, N. D., -39.

With the present spell of cruelly cold weather hovering over such a large area any prospect of a January thaw for the next several weeks seems extremely unlikely, says Decker.

Red American POWs Declared Undesirable, Receive Discharges

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The 21 American soldiers who have refused to come home from Communist Korea will be declared "undesirable" and discharged tomorrow.

The undesirable discharge papers for the prisoners of war who declined to be returned have been completed by the Army after weeks of consultation with the Defense and State departments. The action will convert the soldiers into civilians "under conditions other than honorable."

The Pentagon chose this middle course in dealing with the 21 to avoid possible legal difficulties in the way of sterner action, and to leave a loophole for the men to clear themselves, should any of them get back to the United States.

One month ago the Defense Department said that it had narrowed the Army's choices of action against the men to three:

- (1) Keep them on Army rolls and defer a decision for the indefinite future;
- (2) give them undesirable discharges by administrative action of the Army secretary and (3) drop them from the Army's rolls as deserters.

The first course would have permitted the men to accumulate and perhaps some day draw their pay. This course was ruled out by legal opinion that the armistice terms specifically provided that prisoners on both sides who had refused to go home must be released as civilians.

Service Pay Ceases

Some Army officers held out for declaring the men deserters. If this were done, any of the 21 who eventually returned to the United States would be liable for automatic arrest and court-martial. They could not actually be convicted of desertion without a trial at which they were present. Pentagon lawyers pointed out that the agreed armistice terms sought to guarantee the free to choose sides. Therefore, reasoned the lawyers, a charge of desertion might not be sustainable.

The moment the undesirable discharges become effective for the 21, their service pay will cease to accumulate. It will be difficult though not impossible for them to qualify for veterans benefits. The VA must decide each case. Should any of them ever come home he will still have the right to ask for a review of his discharge and be given an opportunity to show, if he can, that he was coerced into making his decision.

Ted McFadden Gunshot Victim

Theodore R. (Ted) McFadden, 45, Cornell farmer and an operator of Upper Michigan Power & Light Company's power dam at Boney Falls, yesterday shot and killed himself with a deer rifle in the garage at the McFadden farm.

He had been in ill health for several years and had become increasingly despondent as his condition became worse, authorities said they were informed by the McFadden family.

Dr. Otto S. Hult, Gladstone, officers of the sheriff's department and State Police investigated the death, which was reported as a suicide.

Bullet Entered Head

Mrs. McFadden discovered her husband's body in the garage at 12:30 p. m. yesterday when she went to call him to come to dinner.

Officers said that death was caused by a bullet from a 30-30 rifle, which Mr. McFadden has used in deer hunting. The bullet entered the head from the front. Death was instantaneous.

Mrs. McFadden telephoned her husband's brother, Gus McFadden of Groos, who notified the sheriff's office.

Mr. McFadden was born in Benedict, Kan., Feb. 9, 1908, and the family moved to Cornell in 1918. He married the former Genevieve Barron of Flat Rock Aug. 3, 1932.

Active In Community

He was employed as a power operator at the Boney Falls plant of the Upper Michigan Power and Light Company 16 years and with his brother was associated in a portable sawmill business and in the operation of a maple sugar bush.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, Fred, a senior at Michigan State College, East Lansing, and George at home, one daughter, Janice, also at home, his mother, Mrs. George McFadden of Cornell, and one brother, Gus of Gladstone.

He was a member of Escanaba Local 979, Electrical Union, and of the Cornell Lions Club in which he was very active.

The body was taken to the Boyce Funeral Home. Arrangements for the services will be completed this afternoon.

Soil Program Will Continue

Continuation of the present program of soil conservation through the U. S. Department of Agriculture was the assurance given by Paul Barrett of the Soil and Water Conservation Department of the Michigan State College at the annual meeting of the Delta County Soil Conservation District at the Cornell Township Wednesday evening.

Many features of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are in the uncertain stage and the soil and the soil conservation program is among them, Barrett stated, but any drastic change in this program is not likely at this time he added.

The speaker enhanced his talk with colored slides of the results of the soil conservation program. Many of the scenes shown were in the local area which added greatly to the interest shown in the discussion.

Officers Relected

Others speakers at the meeting were Irwin J. TenHaken, soil conservationist and Joseph Heirman, county agricultural agent, who discussed the history and problems of the district organization, its educational program, cooperative work done and the year's accomplishments.

Following the reading of the financial report the annual election of officers and directors was held resulting in the reelection of the entire personnel. They are: Ed Bergman, chairman; Clayton Ford, treasurer; Robert Watchorn, Onni Simmes and Ted Sundin, directors.

The county agricultural agent serves as secretary of the district.

Due to unfavorable weather conditions and interference from other sources of an unforeseen nature, the attendance was small compared with other meetings of the organization in the past.

Act Tonight On Insurance Bids

Escanaba City Council in regular meeting tonight is scheduled to accept one of two bids submitted for fire insurance to cover all city buildings.

The bidders are the Escanaba Insurance Agents Association and Employers Mutuals.

An analysis of the two bids, requested by the Council, was submitted last night to the Council at a special meeting. The analysis was presented by City Comptroller Alfred Lawrence.

The analysis, computed to show the cost of the premiums for a five-year period, revealed the cost of the Insurance Agents Association bid as $19,914.23 and of Employers Mutuals as $17,726.51 total for five years.

Present Comparisons

Employers Mutuals premium cost to the city is lower because of the payment of estimated dividends annually during the five-year period. While the dividends are not guaranteed, they are estimated on the company's record of payment over the years, said Robert Schmit, Employers Mutuals representative.

Art Goulais, spokesman for the Escanaba Insurance Agents Association, said that the rates as submitted in the bid of the Association "are guaranteed."

The bid analysis presented to the Council last night cited that the Mutuals requires a premium deposit of $10,600, and notes that the difference between this amount and the average advance payment for a five-year period would bring the city interest revenue of about $450. Council was asked to note this in determining the difference in bids.

ever, does provide some extended and additional coverage not contained in the bid of the Insurance Agents Association, the report noted.

The Council discussed at some length the higher values placed upon city buildings by City Manager A. V. Aronson and his staff. Representatives of the two bidders agreed that these values could be lowered, if a study showed the reduction warranted, after one or the other bid is approved.

City buildings have not been adequately insured against fire loss, said City Manager Aronson, and there is now no fire insurance coverage on the new gas plant and water plant.

The city has 22 buildings to be insured against fire loss under the proposal on which bids have been received. This is the first time in the city's history that bids have been taken on fire insurance. Previously the insurance was written by agreement with local agents.

MICHIGAN NOW PLAYING!

Fishermen To Hold Michigan Meeting Here

About 200 members of the Michigan Fish Producers Association will hold their annual state convention in Escanaba Jan. 24-26, with most of the commercial fishermen arriving on Sunday.

Registrations for the convention has been heavy and it is expected that every section of the state will be represented here for the meeting at which the marauding sea lamprey and other problems of commercial fishermen will be discussed. The House of Ludington will be convention headquarters.

The convention program will open Sunday with registration, followed by a buffet supper and get-together of the delegates Sunday evening.

The business session of the convention will be held Monday morning.

Report On Lamprey

Problems of the commercial fishing industry will be discussed at sessions to be held Monday afternoon, and the annual banquet will be held Monday evening.

Dr. James W. Moffett, chief of the Great Lakes Division of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and his staff will report on the status of measures being taken to control the sea lamprey, which has caused great damage to lake trout and other food fishes of the Great Lakes.

The research program on sea lamprey for 1954, together with a report on the findings made during the past year on Lake Superior, will be reported. The new Fish and Wildlife Service research vessel Ciscoe has been in operation on Lake Superior during the past year.

Officials from the 9th district Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland, Capt. Willard Smith of the Cutter Mackinaw, and Mr. Megaw of the Sturgeon Bay, Wis., group command office, will discuss spring ice breaking plans with the fishermen who operate on Green Bay.

Arrange Displays

Marketing problems, together with the effect of unrestricted imports of fresh water fish from Canada, will come up for consideration in the meetings of Michigan commercial fishermen.

Wholesale fish dealers and manufacturers and distributors of fishing equipment will arrange displays here for the convention. One manufacturer of a power ice drill, designed for use in winter fishing, will be demonstrated on Little Bay de Noc near the municipal dock.

Arrangements for the meeting here are being made by Claude Ver Duin, Grand Haven, secretary-treasurer of the Fish Producers Association; assisted by officers of the Escanaba district of the Association, and Roy Jensen, local fish dealer.

DAILY PRESS CARRIERS in Delta and Schoolcraft counties will make collections Saturday for the polio fund in the two counties. In the photo above Glen Knudson, Billy Snow and

For March Of Dimes:

Daily Press Carriers To Solicit Routes Saturday

Escanaba Daily Press carriers, the boys who walk hundreds of miles each year to deliver the newspaper to their customers, will solicit Saturday along their routes for the March of Dimes — to help some less fortunate boy or girl crippled by polio.

This will be the second year the Daily Press carriers have received contributions for the March of Dimes.

Duncan Cameron, Daily Press circulation manager, today said the carriers last year turned over $543.92 to the March of Dimes polio fund drive. In an appeal to the carriers to help raise funds to fight polio, Cameron said:

"This is an opportunity for you to do a community service that is well worth while. During the past few years each of you have known of some person who has been stricken with polio. It is important that all of us help to wipe out this disease."

All of the money collected by the carriers will be credited to the town and county in which the person lives who made the contribution.

The 90 newsboys will carry a coin container with a sealed top and covered with a special March of Dimes label, so contributors will know the boy is authorized to collect for the polio fund.

All funds collected in Schoolcraft County will be turned over to the March of Dimes in that county, while all Delta County residents who contribute will have their donation credited to the March of Dimes in this county.

The March of Dimes goal in Delta County is $12,000—or more. Last year $12,000 was raised and it is hoped to exceed that amount this month.

Recreation Board Opposes Leasing Recreation Land

The Escanaba Recreation Board has opposed the leasing of recreation land to Mark Sabuco for the construction of an Indian museum. Sabuco has requested a ten-year lease on city-owned land near the water tower in an area zoned for recreational development. The recreation board indicated that it desired to develop the property and is now working on plans for that objective.

As a matter of principle, the recreation board reported that it believes the city should not lease any recreational area for permanent or semi-permanent commercial use.

U. Of M. Club To Meet Here Friday

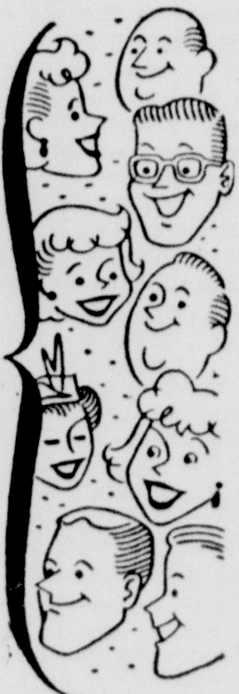

The Delta County University of Michigan Club will hold a luncheon meeting at 12:15 Friday noon at the Delta Hotel, with President K. F. Harrington presiding.

Present for the meeting will be Charles Sill, lecturer in real estate and coordinator of the real estate program for the University of Michigan, and William J. Carey, bureau of business research at the University.

Business to come before the meeting will include a discussion of plans for the University birthday dinner.

Barron's Claim Forces Action To Enforce State Dog Law

ENFORCEMENT in Delta County of the state law governing the control of dogs should result from the ruckus that developed in the claim of Frank Barron, Flat Rock farmer, against the Delta County Board of Supervisors for damage to Barron's sheep by dogs.

The law is specific enough. It provides that the county is liable for damage claims resulting from depredations by dogs. It further provides that dogs must be licensed and that unlicensed dogs must be destroyed. The statute requires dog owners to keep their animals on their own property or on leash.

The statute has been ignored in Delta County. Escanaba has a dog ordinance, modeled somewhat after the state law but not in entire conformity with the state law. Escanaba permits its dogs to roam at large in the winter months, itself a contradiction to the state law. The townships evaded the dog issue entirely, made no effort to license the animals.

It is significant that sheep raising in the Upper Peninsula and particularly in Delta County has been stymied by dog depredations. Mr. Barron has a large herd of sheep that he imported from New Zealand in an experiment to determine the feasibility of establishing the industry in the county. He is entitled to protection from the dog nuisance.

Mr. Barron settled with the county for $600. He contends his actual loss is more nearly $2500. His major purpose in pursuing his claim was to secure the legal measure of dog control as provided in Michigan statute. He has succeeded in accomplishing that, or at least so it seems. The County Board has recommended that townships and municipalities proceed with plans for enforcement of the statute.

Nearly everyone likes dogs but a dog that molests animals or people is not a desirable dog. Unfortunately too many people fail to take care of their dogs in a proper manner. As a result these dogs roam at large and become a public nuisance. If the state law is properly enforced the problem will be minimized because these dogs will be destroyed.

Words, Wit & Wisdom
By William Morris

From a Savannah, Ga., reader comes a letter so witty and so apt in its pronouncements that I am sure my readers will enjoy sharing parts of it with me. After noting several specific instances of glaring typographical errors appearing in books released by top-ranking American publishers, Warren F. Avery mentions a British book, "Flying Saucers Have Landed" by Leslie and Adamski.

"I note the book's jacket spells Poseidon's correctly, but in the text matter on pages 147 and 149 there appears Poseidonis—in fact I gave up marking the errors of spelling in this book, and I am not unkind of British usage. This book sells for $3.50 and appears to have been proofread by a shoe clerk . . .

"The few examples I have given here don't even begin to cover the subject of errors that appear in our printing today. And what am I getting at?

"Just this: The notion that there is nothing sacrosanct about the dictionary has given rise to a tidal wave of monstrous spelling, and schools and colleges—from what I see daily—are doing nothing about it.

"You might, in your column, expound a bit on the use of the dictionary; emphasize the study of the dictionary's introduction and explanatory section and the section in the back on punctuation. And, if editors themselves would read these sections, we proofreaders and compositors would be a lot happier."

Mr. Avery has a number of other witty and barbed comments on the publishing scene—but those must wait for another day. His point about the "front matter" in dictionaries is well taken, however. Every dictionary editor commits this introductory material to type in full knowledge that it is probably the most valuable part of the entire work—and not one in ten thousand users of the book will ever look at it!

Questions and Answers

Q—What was the result of the recent Congressional hearings on Korean War atrocities?

A—On Dec. 4, at the end of hearings by the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee into alleged atrocities upon American prisoners of war in Korea, Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.), who was conducting the hearings, said he would ask the Senate when it convenes in January to seek a United Nations investigation of the atrocity charges.

Q—Do the letters "H. R." in front of numbers of legislative measures mean House Resolution?

A—The H. R. preceding a number means House of Representatives, and designates the measure as a House "bill." H. Res. means House Resolution. A House bill originates in the lower chamber and when passed by both chambers and, normally, signed by the President becomes law (just as does a Senate Bill). A House Resolution requires for its adoption, only passage by the House of Representatives, and does not become a law.

The Doctor Says . . . Changes In Adolescent Girls May Come at Different Ages

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

A correspondent writes that her 15-year-old daughter has not yet shown signs of maturity, although most of her companions have. The physical changes associated with adolescence in girls do not always come at the same age, nor are they completed at the same rate.

Generally speaking, there is no cause for undue concern if there is delay until 14 or 15, or if they start before the age of 13. Apparently, these changes are affected by family background, racial descent, climate, and other influences.

The appearance of the physical changes of adolescence in girls can be quite a shock to the girls unless properly managed. Every girl approaching 12 should be properly instructed, preferably by her mother, and made to realize that about one and one-half million other girls in the country are going through approximately the same experience at the same time.

The changes of adolescence should be important.

accepted as a step towards maturity by the girls and by their parents. When this is not done an unexpected event may cause some emotional distress.

It should be explained that the changes about to take place are the result of increased activity on the part of those hormones or internal glands which have to do with femininity.

GIRLS BECOME NERVOUS

After adolescence begins, and usually for two or three years thereafter, girls are normally somewhat more nervous and less consistent in their behavior than they were before or will be later.

Parents should not worry about the seeming personality change which often occurs. When an adolescent girl is unreasonable, parents do well to ignore it altogether, take it calmly, and yet continue to be firm about those things which are really important.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The press was shut out and the public shooed away the other day while the senate insular affairs committee debated Hawaiian statehood behind closed doors. However, this column can report that the stately, near-empty hearing room was rocked by political thunder and lightning—a preview of the stormy debate to come on the senate floor.

The Democrats angrily accused the GOP of playing politics by turning Senator McCarthy loose to investigate corruption in Democratic Alaska, but at the same time refusing to investigate Communism in Republican Hawaii. The session hadn't been going five minutes before Senator George Smathers, Florida Democrat, got down to the nub of the matter.

"I think," he declared, "all of us are practical to the extent that we recognize that if we get Hawaii in, we probably will get two Republican senators, and if we get Alaska in, we will get two Democratic senators."

"There is no cinch to that. I can assure you," disagreed Chairman Hugh Butler, Nebraska Republican.

"That's the rumor that is going around," snorted Smathers.

"Isn't it all in your mind?" piped up Senator Arthur Watkins, Utah Republican.

"It begins to look as though it is on somebody else's mind, when, right at this time, we vote to close the hearings and they suddenly find some corruption in Alaska, which of course gives reason to believe that maybe we shouldn't vote Alaska in at this time," retorted Smathers. "It must be admitted that this discovery of corruption in Alaska was timely."

"Let's go ahead with the consideration of the Hawaiian bill and leave the Alaskan corruption until it comes here as an issue," pleaded Butler, swinging his gavel.

HAWAIIAN COMMIES

"The McCarthy committee has been busy investigating Communism around, but even though there are very serious charges of Communism existing in the islands of Hawaii, it seems to me a bit inconsistent that the McCarthy committee should not want to investigate Communism here," shouted Smathers, ignoring the gavel. "They have indicated in the past that Communism is the thing that they really want to investigate, but they suddenly turn their attention to some alleged corruption in Alaska."

"I want to say to the senator that this committee quite thoroughly investigated the Communist situation in Hawaii quite some time ago," bristled Butler.

"Governor Stainback says it is worse since 1950," retorted Smathers, referring to a recent statement by Hawaii's ex-Governor Ingram Stainback that Communist strength has increased on the islands since 1950.

"The Justice Department says it has gotten better. So there you are," blurted Senator Russ Long, Louisiana Democrat, who recently sided with the Republicans in favor of statehood for Hawaii but not for Alaska.

"The anti-subversive committee of the Territory of Hawaii says that it is worse, and they filed a report in March 1953," replied the tall, handsome senator from Florida.

At this point, Chairman Butler triumphantly pulled out a letter that he had just received from Attorney General Brownell. Reading aloud, Butler quoted the Attorney General's letter as follows:

"The facts known to me concerning Communism in Hawaii do not indicate any reason to believe that Communism is a greater menace in Hawaii at the present time than it was in 1950. As a matter of fact, the known members of the Communist party in Hawaii appear to be fewer in number at present than they were in 1950. Undoubtedly the recent conviction of the leaders of the Communist conspiracy in Hawaii has contributed to this decline in Communist party membership. I believe it is inevitable that this conviction will have a weakening effect on the strength of Communism in Hawaii."

BROWNELL'S OPINION

"I do not mean to suggest, however, that the seriousness of the Communist menace in Hawaii can be measured by these facts alone," the Brownell letter added cautiously. "These convictions have a relation to the convictions of Communist leaders in other parts of the United States . . . the fact that it has been necessary to prosecute the leaders of the Communist conspiracy in Hawaii is, in my opinion, no more of an indication of the strength of the party in that area than the convictions of the Communist leaders in New York, Pittsburgh, Seattle and Los Angeles are indications of party control and dominance in those areas."

"In other words," commented Senator Smathers, "Brownell just gives us his opinion."

"That is right, as did Governor Stainback," snapped Senator Guy Cordon, Oregon Republican.

Admiral Rickover Is Genius Behind Atom-Power Submarine

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When the USS Nautilus, history's first atomic submarine, grates into the water on its launching, a skinny, temperamental genius takes his place on the pages of American history next to such men as Robert Fulton, Thomas Edison, Robert Morse and the Wright brothers.

He is Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, the brains, inspiration and energy behind the A-sub which heralds a new era in weapons and opens the door to great new civilian uses of atomic energy.

Typical of Rickover's impatience with dwelling on past deeds is this snappish comment on his sub, made on the eve of a triumph few men achieve:

"We expect tremendous improvement in nuclear power utilization as we go ahead. It is the hope that we can use nuclear power directly instead of via steam; that we can put a few shovels full of material in a hopper, as some people have said, and utilize more directly the heat derived therefrom."

Talk like this from the admiral frightens the people who work with him. They know that when he sets his sights on some such goal he'll lash himself and everyone around into a frenzy of work until it's accomplished.

The fascinating story of this eccentric, who nearly had his career nipped in the bud at the moment of triumph, is told in an interesting, inside report on him in a book to be published simultaneously with the launching of the Nautilus. It is called "The Atomic Submarine and Admiral Rickover," (Henry Holt) and written by Clay Blair, a Washington reporter.

Blair reveals for the first time the details of inner-Navy politics which Rickover had to fight to get his sub built and his promotion troubles.

Rickover's parents were Polish immigrants who moved to Chicago. He got through high school working as a Western Union messenger. He was a stubborn youth and "lone operator." His father once had to chip his teeth to force medicine down him.

Blair sums up Rickover's naval career this way:

"He would constantly criticize what he called the 'stupidity' of the Navy, the outdated, unnecessary regulations. He would challenge the unwritten rules which make politicking of importance to naval personnel; the unspoken regulation which made it mandatory to attend cocktail parties and other social events. He would make war against the lethargy, the laziness, the indifference which he found in some quarters of the peacetime, between-World War Navy. He would ferret out and attempt to eliminate waste and inefficiency."

There is one thing promotion to admiral did not do to Rickover. It did not make him or his atomic sub any less controversial within the Navy.

Just before the big launching his enemies began spreading the word throughout the Pentagon—making sure that the reporters there heard—that the Nautilus itself would never be able to get in combat if war came. They claimed that it was strictly experimental and that future atomic subs would be sharply different.

Rickover got his nuclear theory

THE MAN BEHIND THE NAUTILUS: The story of Admiral Rickover (right) by his biographer Clay Blair (standing) will be launched the same day the submarine goes down the ways.

grounding at the Atomic Energy Commission's lab at Oak Ridge, Tenn., just after the war. He headed a group beginning work on an atomic sub. After months of significant, pioneer work on the project he discovered to his dismay that a similar group had been created in the Navy's Bureau of Ships, but operating on the belief that the A-sub was something only for the far-distant future. Rickover was going on the assumption that it was achievable in a few years.

In the fall of 1947 Rickover's dream boat was grounded by a low-tide of interest in it by both the Navy and AEC. So he figured out a scheme to refloat it. He drafted a letter for the then Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Nimitz, to send to the Secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan for approval, figuring this would stir action. It called for more speed on the A-sub project.

Next was a needling attack sparked by Rickover against disinterest in the AEC. This he did by ghost-writing speeches on the subject for the admirals.

A selection board, composed of admirals, passed him over twice for promotion to admiral, which should have sent him into retirement. However, AEC, spokesmen, congressmen and just about everyone who had worked with him on the sub sprang to his defense. The result was when the new Secretary of Navy Robert Anderson came in with the Republicans, Rickover was made an admiral.

There is one thing promotion to admiral did not do to Rickover. It did not make him or his atomic sub any less controversial within the Navy.

Just before the big launching his enemies began spreading the word throughout the Pentagon—making sure that the reporters there heard—that the Nautilus itself would never be able to get in combat if war came. They claimed that it was strictly experimental and that future atomic subs would be sharply different.

PRESSURE GROUPS—In a democracy a pressure group can be good or bad in its impact upon public affairs. For some pressure groups are actively interested in promoting good government—national, state, local—while other pressure groups are self-interested.

Generally speaking, however, most citizens consider the pressure group as not conducive to good government. And most of them are not, because they represent the minority or selfish interest bringing influence upon governing bodies and officials against the best interest of the public—represented by the majority of our citizens.

Leo C. Reithmayer, member of the Boulder City, Colo., City Council, and on the political science faculty of the University of Colorado, writes about pressure groups in the current issue of Public Management magazine.

He describes the pressure group as unlike the political party because the pressure group "is usually not interested in winning and holding public office, but in shaping public policy."

THE REAL GOVERNMENT—Prof. Reithmayer notes that pressure groups may use various approaches, but in most cases their greatest activity comes after the elections are over.

"Each group wants something," he notes. "And to the extent that governmental action is taken in compliance with the demands of these groups, the voices of groups become the real government."

"In some cases they work so quietly and skillfully that there is actually invisible government."

There is a difference of opinion among citizens on whether the impact of pressure groups aids or harms government—depending on whether the citizen is a member of a pressure group.

"In general, we think of those groups or organizations upon which we look with disfavor as the special interest groups, whereas we regard those with which we sympathize as public interest groups," Prof. Reithmayer notes.

WHO BENEFITS—While it is true that there are both good and bad pressure groups, Prof. Reithmayer is of the opinion that:

"To a large extent, however, the most active and most influential groups have been those that have wanted government to act in a manner which was beneficial to their own special interests."

"There has been so much evidence of this that observers have said that when important issues are to be decided by government, somebody speaks for all interests except the public interest."

The citizen can usually determine, at least to his own satisfaction, whether a pressure group is selfishly motivated by asking one fundamental question: Will the members of the pressure group benefit if a certain action is taken? Or will the action result in benefit to the public?

If the pressure group's proposal is for the benefit of its own members, then obviously the public interest will suffer.

HOW THEY OPERATE—Prof. Reithmayer reports that pressure groups use a wide range of techniques in seeking to accomplish their purpose.

They include arguments presented at meetings and hearings of the City Council; personal contacts with Councilmen and administrators and influential private citizens; circulation of petitions; statements to the public through newspaper and radio; and sometimes the issuance of threats and untrue charges.

Sometimes these threats and false statements are made to frighten administrative officials, including city managers, Prof. Reithmayer notes.

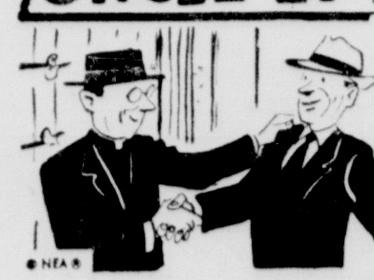

Since the manager is appointed by a City Council which is elected by and should represent all of the people, the manager has a definite responsibility "to act in a positive and forthright manner to promote what appears to be public interest."

"Such action is essential, both when the manager is making recommendations to the City Council on policy matters and when he is taking administrative action," says Prof. Reithmayer.

Pointing to the City Manager's Code of Ethics, Prof. Reithmayer declares that it is pertinent to the discussion. Principle 10 of the Code states:

"The city manager carries no favors. He handles each problem without discrimination on the basis of principle and justice."

Medical Quacks Still Fooling Public With Phony Gadgets

By PATTI SIMMONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A phony gadget racket is operating in this country today, despite the vigilance of the U. S. government. Those guilty are doing more than just preying on the American pocketbook, the Food and Drug Administration points out. The danger, it charges, is that people who are really sick, say with cancer, will turn to quack medical devices rather than to doctors. By the time they realize their mistake it may be too late.

True, the gadget come-on is ages-old. But the magic words of the atomic age, declares FDA, has handed modern fakes a new advantage for cashing in on the gullibility of the public.

For some time the administration has been seizing devices that are claimed to give off atomic waves. One even claimed to radiate "a force unknown to science" and was said to be able to cure any disease affecting mankind.

Today, FDA estimates that Americans spend a half-billion dollars annually on food additives, "medicines" and therapeutic contrivances they don't need.

FDA's last annual report, for the fiscal year 195, declared that 25 device seizures had been made because of false and misleading claims. These ranged from "cosmic ray" lockets which sold for $250 to $750 depending on size, to complicated colonic irrigators.

The $1600 colonic irrigator was being sold to chiropractors, says FDA, with literature claiming usefulness for a number of diseases including asthma and diabetes.

Recently, the government seized something called an "Atomotrone." Light is rigged up to shine through colored glass onto a jug DUMBELL exhibited here by FDA's Mrs. Charles Drake claimed to expand patient's "atoms." Maker was jailed.

HEART OR DANDRUFF trouble were supposed to vanish with device FDA's Erminia Rebollini holds. Maker was fined.

of water. What results was called "Thermal water" and "Electric water," explained FDA. One was recommended for soft nails or even no nails. The other, the "Atomotrone" people claimed, was good for about 100 diseases and ailments, including nails again. This time, brittle ones.

An administration official says that he thinks women fall offener for phony devices aimed at slenderizing and beautifying while men are more apt to try to doctor themselves.

The inventor of the Zerret Applier, a plastic dumbbell-like contraption, was sentenced to jail in 1950.

To cure disease, said the directions, a patient had only to sit, without crossing his knees, holding the dumbbell, one knob in each hand for 30 minutes at a time. This $50 "toy" was loaded with "Zerret Water" which was said to give forth "Z-Rays." The maker claimed his treatment would "expand all the atoms of one's being."

Chemists testified the water had the composition of tap water. Leading atomic scientists declared the device was not radioactive and brought a Geiger counter to the court room to prove it.

Another phony in FDA's "sucker collection" looks like a flashlight with a roller on the end. With its attachments the Electrotreat was said to help heart attack, paralysis, or just dandruff. Following government action the manufacturer was fined $1000.

Although the promoter of the Sinuothermic Device recommended it for advanced cases of arthritis deformans, he himself was so crippled by this disease he couldn't raise his arm to take the oath when he testified in court. For this same reason he couldn't occupy the witness chair but made his statements from a wheel chair. The government finally won.

Several years ago, promoters of the Vitillum Tube claimed their "Magic Spike" had radioactive powers that would cure disease when it was worn on the body. The two-inch piece of brass tube contained less than one penny's worth of barium chloride and had no medical value. It sold for $306, sales tax included.

At this trial a pathetic witness described the death of his diabetic son who abandoned insulin and pinned his faith on the "Magic Spike."

The government's hokus-pokus list also includes a "radio-active" pillow and a "sleep recording" by a hypnotist.

One explanation for all this human gullibility, FDA believes is that despite advances in education and medical science there are millions who are no better informed about health fundamentals than if they had lived a hundred or a thousand years ago.

But it isn't true that only uneducated, backwoods people fall for gadget cures.

A proof of this was FDA's action against Chiropractor Ruth B. Drown, who claimed that her machines could "tune in the organs of the body and heal them by remote control. All she needed was a single drop of the patient's blood, or two drops if he couldn't be there in person.

Among the witnesses for Dr. Drown was none other than the president of the Los Angeles City Board of Education. Los Angeles newspapers demanded her resignation, and got it.

At the trial the government had a key case history. It was that of a woman treated for cancer by the Drown radio instrument until it was too late for successful surgery.

MADILL, Okla. (AP)—Lawrence Ables looked forward all week to eating Sunday breakfast at a cafe here because he heard a certain brand of preserves was served only on that day.

When he got his food, the preserves were missing and he asked for them.

"I waited all week because I was told those preserves were served only on Sundays," he told the waitress.

"That's right," she replied. "They're served only on sundaes."

GOOD FEEDING

by AL JOHNSON

NORTHERN FLOUR & GRAIN
ESCANABA, MICH.

MANY GOOD POULTRYMEN have increased their income by maintaining a breeding flock for the production of hatching eggs. Selection of stock is most important to the breeder. He must have strains which will produce large numbers of fertile eggs with high hatchability. These birds must also have the qualities of livability, rapid growth, rapid feathering and good body conformation.

HOUSING IS ESPECIALLY important when producing hatching eggs. Breeders should be given clean, disinfected pens, well lighted and free from drafts, dampness and excessive temperature changes.

RATIONS HIGH IN VITAMINS are necessary for a high rate of hatchability. Be sure of a good hatchability rate by feeding Occident 20% Breeder or Occident 26% Hatchery Balancer. And, as you know from experience, the more eggs you get, the less your feed costs per dozen. So, follow the example of wise poultrymen, feed Occident 18% or 20% Laying Feed. It provides all the egg-making ingredients.

FORMULATION of Occident Feeds is in the hands of highly trained scientists ... with backgrounds of farm training. This experienced staff assures you that all Occident Feeds have been formulated with the know-how that only experts can accomplish.

CONSTANT CHECKS on formulations, with highly accurate testing equipment, assure that Occident Feeds are proven right in the laboratory before they get to the farm! There is only one reason for our staff to run these controlled tests—to assure you of a constantly adequate level of nutrients and constantly high quality performance in the Occident Feeds you use!

U.S. Soldiers Rate Nationalist Chances On Formosa Good Bet

By FRED SPARKS
By NEA Staff Correspondent
GROUND BOSS: Gen. Sun Le-jin commands Free Chinese ground forces on Formosa.
POLITICAL ADVISOR: Chiang Ching-kuo is eldest son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.
TAIPEI, Formosa (NEA)—Is the Chinese Nationalist Army on Formosa, 90 miles from Communist China, a good investment for your tax dollar?

Under our government's present policy to strengthen any anti-communist army, the answer is an amplified "Yes!"

Slowly but surely a pattern is developing throughout the democratic world in which our friends will supply infantry and America will supply air and sea muscle, goods and technical advice.

Unless communism collapses from the weight of its own wretched oppressions, this pattern might save the life of your son, your friend, your brother.

The above is the attitude of the 800 American soldiers here supervising the distribution of our armaments and suggesting how best this tackle be employed. Why do they feel that way? Here are the questions and answers:

Q. The Free Chinese Army is 600,000. The Red Chinese Army 6,000,000—10 times as large. Isn't that like the baby and the wolf?

A. Maybe more like the mouse and the elephant. In President Eisenhower's new budget the U. S. Army is pegged at 1,000,000. Which means Chinese Nationalists are three-fifths as numerous.

With more Chinese (released POWs) expected from Korea, plus Formosan inductees and Chinese living here might soon match the U. S. Army in size.

Q. What is their chance of re-taking the mainland alone?

A. Same as surviving a trip over Niagara Falls in a soap dish. Only a home-grown guerrilla movement on the mainland would make it thinkable. If the Nationalists could hold a beachhead, however, a guerrilla movement plus popular support might do it.

We're not now training them for major invasion. We're preparing them to (1) defend Formosa, (2) play a major role in Asia if total war comes, and (3) act as a wet blanket on any more Chinese Communist ambitions. This is no School for Suicide.

Q. In case of renewed war in Korea, could we use them?

A. Absolutely! Considering what has happened since then, it was a terrible mistake not to use them early in the Korean conflict.

If we did send Nationalist troops to Korea it would be wise to mix them with GIs. The Oriental is more interested in saving his "face" than his hide. When foreigners are watching they double their punches.

Q. There are some among us not in favor of the aging Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who for 30 years—longer than any other man in these times—has held great power.

A. When the bullets zzzzing does a GI turn to his buddy in the next foxhole and ask whether he's a Democrat, Republican, mug-wamp or vegetarian? The man behind the man who pulls the trigger is not important on foxhole levels.

Q. Are there any serious differences between our American

GROUND BOSS: Gen. Sun Le-jin commands Free Chinese ground forces on Formosa.

Military Mission and the Chinese High Command?

A. The most serious difference is over political advisors who play an important part in the army even on company level.

We have no right nor desire to interfere, except when we think the political advisors set back our training program. The chief of the political advisors is Chiang Ching-kuo, the Generalissimo's eldest son. He is a wise, fair man and we have every hope of resolving our differences with him.

Q. What do the Chinese soldiers themselves think of their leadership?

A. They realize something went wrong when they were booted off the mainland. They know and privately talk about Nationalist top-dogs who played "one for you and one for me" with the treasury. They feel the grafters have been scratched and it would be unwise for anyone to ask for seconds at the pork barrel. Many of the generals, like Sun Le-jin, chief of the ground forces, are as popular as Ike was with the foot sloggers in Normandy.

Q. But why should America have faith in the same leadership that failed before?

A. When the U. S. Army mission went into Greece many Americans went "isk isk" at the form of monarchy then prevailing and the poor showing made against Red guerrillas.

In two years the Greek Army was forged into a sledge-hammer that beat the brains out of Communist rebels. In the awful cold of Korea, where your sleeping bag froze to the ground and had to be ripped off like a plaster from a hairy leg, we had no better buddies than the troopers from Athens and Salonika.

Q. With their limited education can Chinese soldiers form a modern army?

A. We're not asking them to drop their comic books and pick up Nuclear Fission Magazine. As we found in Greece, Turkey and South Korea, where most soldiers kept in touch with their honeys via professional letter writers, semi-primitives are capable of handling modern infantry weapons.

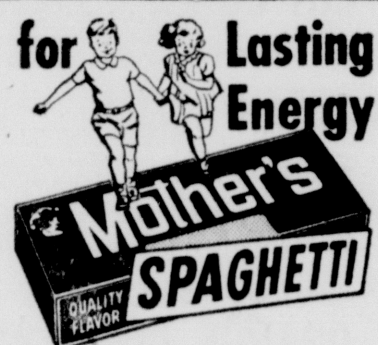

Q. Isn't the whole business too costly?

A. Not under present policy. Anybody who's traveled abroad knows how we've boondoggled billions building luxury hotels in France and importing cigarettes into Italy.

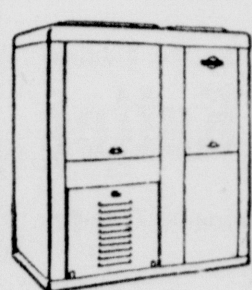

The week's grocery bill for a Chinese soldier is $1.25. Any GI who might have to fight another war would gladly dig 10 bits out of his fatigues to keep an extra rifleman alongside when the stuff flies on Bullet Boulevard.

POLITICAL ADVISOR: Chiang Ching-kuo is eldest son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Big Business Bets Heavily On Coming Year's Prosperity

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Some folk are betting heavily on business staying good.

The outlook's good for surface travel, says the giant General Motors Corp. It announced Tuesday it would spend one billion dollars this year and next in expanding its plant to meet the future demand for motors. That will mean doubling the annual rate of spending it has kept up from 1946 to the present.

Boat Building Booms

The National Assn. of Engine & Boat Manufacturers reports today its members are confident of making and selling 30 per cent more pleasure craft this year than last. They expect the ever-growing multitude of boat enthusiasts, now estimated at 16 million in this country, to find the money to buy them. And the oil industry is thumbing its nose at the present oversupply of oil in the world. It says that this year it will spend just about as much as last—a record 2 1/2 billion dollars—in looking and drilling for new oil reserves.

Boss Pays $37,000 For Dancing Lessons; 40 Employees Idled

DETROIT (AP)—Employees at the Winter Bros. Stamping Co. went on strike a week ago after learning that John R. Winter Jr., president of the firm, had signed up for $37,000 worth of lessons at a dance studio. They said Winter had refused them a pay raise.

Last Friday, John Ellis, president of CIO United Auto Workers Local 985, said both sides had agreed on a 10-cent hourly pay hike.

The 40 workers were back on the job Tuesday.

However, Winter came in and ordered operations halted, Ellis said.

"He kicked us out," Ellis said. "It's a lockout."

Winter was not available for comment.

Steadily growing world demand will take up any slack in time, oilmen are confident.

Americans are taking to the water as never before, whether it's in a power cruiser or a putt-putt.

Sales Going Up

The boat - builders president, John W. Mulford, says his association's survey of builders show that boat sales last year topped 1952 by 32 per cent. Eighteen boat builders - and this is only a segment of the entire industry - report combined dollar sales of $8,737,730 last year, which they expect to top by 30 per cent this year.

The 14 reported unit sales totaled 24,602 craft last year, compared to 20,694 the year before, and say they expect to build and sell 29,665 in 1954.

Marine engine manufacturers look for a 30 per cent sales gain this year. Some 500,000 outboard motor units were sold in 1953, compared with 320,000 in 1952, the association reports. Inboard marine engine dollar sales varied among manufacturers, with gains ranging from 5 to 75 per cent.

The boat makers' survey indicates that the average value of craft sold in 1952 was $242 and last year $272.

Loophole In Michigan Sexual Psychopath Law Frees Murderers

LANSING (AP)—The House was asked to "plug a loophole" in the criminal sexual psychopath law under which an Oakland County man was freed from ever being tried for the sex murder of a woman by being committed to a state mental hospital for treatment.

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) filed a bill which would exempt accused murderers from the 1953 law which permits hospital commitment of criminal sexual psychopaths and frees them from a criminal trial.

Those accused of other crimes would be subject to trial after they are released from the hospital.

This New Bandage Sprays On

Flexible new bandage is compared to awkward old-type covering.

A new plastic surgical dressing, offering patients more comfort, is now available to the medical profession. Made of transparent bakelite vinyl resins, it is said to be impermeable by bacteria, and allows doctors to observe the day-to-day progress of the wound without removing the bandage. The new bandage will reportedly stay in place and withstand washing, yet is easily removed by simple peeling. It was designed by the U. S. Air Force for mass treatment of burns in catastrophes. These pictures show new film bandage contrasted with conventional ones.

Five Couples Rewed After Fifty Years

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (P)—Five Middleboro couples were rewed recently in the Central Congregational Church although everyone present knew the original marital knots had been well tied.

The couples reaffirmed their marriage vows in a special ceremony. Each had been married 51 years or more.

New Vehicle Cause Paris Traffic Jam

PARIS (P)—Visitors and residents who have marvelled, and cursed, the increasing congestion of Paris streets learned recently that the traffic jams do not just seem to be worse.

Licensing authorities revealed that new vehicles are being added to the congestion at a rate of 180 daily.

They Quarreled Over Telephone

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (P)—Seeking a divorce, the husband told the judge he had spoken to his wife after she ran up long distance telephone bills of more than $100 a month.

Then, he said, she retaliated by putting a combination lock on the phone, so he could not use it.

It Takes A HEAP OF HAULING ...to make a Home!

IF YOU'VE BUILT a new home recently—or are in the midst of doing so now—you know how dependent building is on motor transport.

From the moment the big excavating shovel arrives at the vacant lot astride a low-bed truck-trailer to dig the hole for your basement, it's a steady procession of trucks of one kind or another until the house is ready for occupancy.

Cement blocks, sand, steel, lumber, roofing, brick, plumbing, hardware, paint—everything that goes into the building of your home has to get to the site in motor trucks.

Then, when you arrive at the point where you're ready to move in, you call on motor transport again to transport your household furnishings for you.

If you've got it, a truck brought it!

Cheers! It's U.S. Teens In England

By TOM A. CULLEN
LONDON — (NEA) — "Strawberry shortcake, huckleberry pie, V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!"

Comanches on the warpath? The British school children weren't sure. They watched fascinated as the American cheer leaders went through their paces.

Occasion: an "Anglo-American teen-agers' conference," sponsored by the Council for Education in World Citizenship.

It wasn't just the ritual of the high school cheer, nor the way the British children sat primly in their seats, while the Americans lolled cheerfully at home in the strange surroundings of St. Pancras Town Hall.

There was the dress. The British teen-agers wore drab school uniforms, while the Americans were as brilliant as mackaws, the boys wearing lumberjacks that might have been cut from Navajo rugs, the girls with sophisticated hair styles.

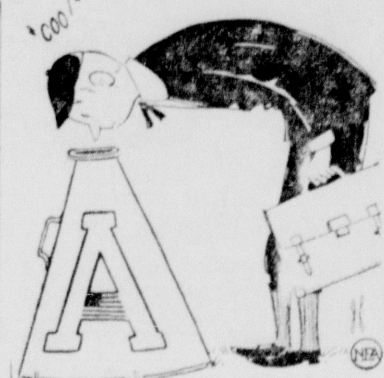

"Do you still have sheriffs in the Wild West?" a 14-year-old English girl asked.

"Waal," said Freddie Buhler, 13, of Los Angeles, "that's a good question. We do have sheriffs, but not like they were in the old days."

The British contingent seemed surprised that American high school students take an oath of allegiance to their country each day. So the Americans, who are students of schools at Bushy Park and Grosvenor Square, stood up in a block and gave them a demonstration.

Then there was lunch, and afterwards a certain amount of gum-chewing could be observed in the English section, too.

Questions asked the American "brains trust" in the afternoon session were: Is there religious instruction in American schools; how much pocket money do American students get; were they liable for military service; what about the color bar in the U. S.; what do Americans like most to eat.

All these questions were dealt with satisfactorily; then came the $60 one.

What advantages, the audience wanted to know, have British schools over American?

The experts said they didn't want to appear unfriendly, but they couldn't think of any.

G. E. Annin, secretary of the Wisconsin Turkey Federation, points to the spot on the scale that brought Knehan the prize-winning trophy. The turkey sold for $6 a pound.

Film Story Of Mische'angelo At Club Open Meeting

"The Titan", a sound film telling the story of Michelangelo with narration by Fredric March, was presented to an appreciative gathering at the open meeting of the Escanaba Woman's Club last evening at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

An introductory talk was given by Mrs. Victor H. Powers.

"The Titan" is a study of the life, the spirit and times of Michelangelo revealed in a synthesis of images created out of moving camera studies of the artist's works. This American version of a German film produced over a decade ago, practically introduced art on a film to American audiences. In its effort to present a portion of Renaissance history and biography without using actors and sets, "The Titan" at times becomes contrived and melodramatic, but even this cannot detract from the magnificent photographic interpretations of Michelangelo's masterpieces.

Out of the turbulence of the age, flowers the beauty of Michelangelo's noble artistry, David, the Medici monument, Moses, the Sistine Chapel ceiling, the Last Judgment and the soaring dome of St. Peter's.

His paintings are few in number, and are to be found only in Rome, Florence and London. In the Sistine Chapel one may, to this day, see his ceiling frescoes. The Last Judgment fresco, his depiction of those who are to be banished forever from the sight of God, measures 66 feet in height, and 33 feet in width, and is the largest and most comprehensive painting in the world. The Holy Family tondo is rightly regarded as one of the glories of the Uffizi. Originally presented to the gallery in 635, it is the only easel painting and the one and only oil painting by Michelangelo that the world possesses today.

The narration knits together a visual story, eloquently voiced by Frederic March.

The art lover's major reward in the film is in Michelangelo's feelingly photographed sculptures, superbly lighted to bring out all their dimensions.

Let's put the spotlight on Seattle teen-agers and see what gives in their zany world. It's fun to know that there is something new in jargon and joy as reported by Marjorie Jones of The Seattle Times . . .

... Unless you care to be classified as a 'runchy character', a 'kind of a flunk', 'real dark green' or to say the least 'uncool' due to ignorance of Seattle teen-ager slang, a dip into their 'bop' dictionary may help.

To be "real George" you must include in your working vocabulary such jive talk as:

RINKY: An "icky" or unpleasant person who is over-dressed, wears too much make-up or is not conducting him or herself according to accepted behavior.

LOVELY-LOVELY: A "doll" or "queen" who is especially beautiful or she could be called simply "exceedingly so."

MULE: pig, crow or dog; All mean the same—the opposite of lovely-lovely.

PIG-POT: A pot of money given to a fraternity brother who gets the worst of a blind-date exchange.

SOCKED: Past tense for being stuck on such a date.

SPOOK: A stranger; somebody from another town.

DIS: One who dissipates by using alcohol or cigarettes.

Hair styles are pretty revolutionary. The newest style for boys involves wearing hair cropped short on top, with sides long and brushed flat against the side of the head to meet in the center at the back in a kind of swirl.

Girls consider these hair styles "icky" but wear a version of the same thing and manage to look cute. The "skunk lock"—a wisp of bleached hair—has lost its appeal in favor of an over-all dye job. Even boys are likely to bleach their hair blond or dye it a reddish blond.

Here's The Glamor Lowdown From A Hollywood Starlet

LOOK, NO CREASES . . . Joan Weldon, Hollywood starlet advises that hanging that skirt before it gets a chance to wrinkle will save a pressing chore next morning.

By VIVIAN BROWN

Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Movie queens have the same glamor problems as Main Street princesses. They can't afford to have a hair out of place, even for a second, and must be on the charm beam all the time. If necessary, they must carry a few beauty replacements in the handbag in anticipation of that unforeseen moment of horror when sheer stockings are marred by a run, or a slight snuffle demands a handkerchief.

All in all, they belong to the good grooming school that demands a lingerie wash basin dunking at night and the proper hanging of clothes before bedtime. Rich or poor, there are few girls who can demand the services of a fairy godmother to perform these chores at odd hours. So even the well-heeled and glamorous must work at being chic.

Here are some useful tips from movie land's Joan Weldon, who shares her own beauty habits with you.

1. Be sure to hang your skirt on a shirt hanger the moment you take it off. If you throw it over a chair hurriedly, you will only have to spend time over the ironing board tomorrow. The type hangers which hold ten or twelve garments will save space.

2. Polish your shoes after each wearing, not only for an attractive lustre, but to prevent cracks which result from drying. If you get caught in the rain without overshoes, stuff your shoes with paper until they are dry. This not only helps to retain their shape, but will help absorb the water quickly.

3. Wash your underwear each day, rinsing out every trace of soap. If soap isn't washed out carefully, it is likely to eat through the fabric. Never squeeze. Press gently. When drying, remember that clothes pins are not old-fashioned but useful and sensible.

4. Brush clothes when you remove them, and before you put them in the closet. Be sure to air them overnight. Your brush should be clean.

5. Empty your coat pockets of coins, matches and handkerchiefs before putting them away. This helps maintain the shape of jackets or coats.

6. Keep your jewelry in a container meant for the purpose. It will be easy to locate earrings, pins or pearls the next morning, if you don't get in the habit of just dropping them anywhere around the house.

7. If you have a morning appointment, be sure to pin curl your hair the night before. It will delay you in the morning if you succumb to the desire to go off to bed without performing your beauty chores. Nails should be checked for a touchup, too.

Tubable Snowsuit Is Wise Purchase

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Your toddler's snowsuit is probably one of the biggest clothing investments you'll make for him. To make it fully worth while, be willing to spend a few dollars extra to get one that is guaranteed to wash without fussing.

There are now many different types available in synthetic fabrics that can be machine washed. Those made of cotton poplin, treated for water repellency, are also tubable.

Be sure that linings and trims are tubable, too, lest you run into trouble. Interfel, dynel and celanese linings are all washable. Mock fur trimmings of Fiber E and dynel also take to tubbing.

The water repellency of snowsuits also makes them dirt repellent, so minimum washing action is usually sufficient. However, it is advisable to wash them often to keep stains from "setting."

Incidentally, it is best to scrub stains with a soft brush and thick soapsuds before submerging the suit. Rinsing is very important in washing water-repellent clothes. Since soap is a wetting agent, it tends to lessen the effectiveness of these fabrics when not thoroughly rinsed out. Be safe and give the suit several rinses. Nylon or orlon suits should be

Elect Directors At State Bank

Stockholders of the State Savings Bank of Manistique met Tuesday night, Jan. 19, and elected seven men to serve on its board of directors.

Elected were August Carlson, E. G. Carlstrom, E. E. Cookson, Frank Hartman, R. G. Hentschell, William J. Shinar and Russell Watson.

Directors were to meet this afternoon to elect officers for the ensuing year. Past officers were William J. Shinar, president; E. E. Cookson, vice president; H. K. Bundy, cashier; and Leonard Males, assistant cashier.

The bank's president, William Shinar, reviewed the bank's operation during the past year at the stockholders' meeting and reported 1953 was a "very satisfactory" year.

In its yearly statement of conditions, the bank reported assets of $3,084,003.69. Its liabilities included deposits totaling $2,798,671.69, and of these $1,426,560.22 were savings deposits and $1,312,164.74 were commercial deposits.

The bank noted in its year-end statement that 1953 was a year of progress in the community. Manistique had a bumper tourist business in the past season, and industries in the community operated "pretty close" to capacity, it pointed out.

In looking ahead into 1954, the bank reported it could see no reason to be other than optimistic, for business is on a solid basis and the threat of continued inflation has faded.

The year 1954 offers great opportunity for progress and prosperity on the national level and here in Manistique, the report concluded.

Food Index Drops; First In 11 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dun & Bradstreet index of wholesale food prices dropped this week for the first time in 11 weeks.

The index declined to $6.96 from last week's $7.03—the highest point touched by the index since June 19, 1951. A year ago, the index registered $6.23.

A downturn in green coffee and cocoa beans helped pull the index lower. Also declining were lard, cheese, raisins, prunes, steers and lambs.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

FIREBIRD

These are the first pictures of the Firebird, the first turbo-jet car built in the U. S., just unveiled by General Motors in Detroit, Mich. The vehicle, which is purely experimental and not intended for highway use, looks more like a supersonic plane than an automobile. Engineers believe the car can travel over 200 mph. It has reverse pitch wings to keep it on the ground, and wing flaps like an airplane to slow it down. The engine has two units. The gasifier section is where the kerosene burns and turns the gas compressor. These gases are funneled through the power section that is directly connected to the rear wheels. The Firebird is comparable in size to the Cadillac 62 Special convertible now in production.

Rear view shows aerodynamic body with vertical tail fin and swept-back delta wings.

Dads' Night was observed by the Central PTA at a regular meeting this week at the High School Assembly Room and the meeting was one of the best attended in recent months.

Att'y William Anderson, Escanaba, presented an interesting and informative address on Indians in the Upper Peninsula, telling where the various tribes lived, which were warlike and which peaceful and other characteristics of the Redmen in Michigan. Pledge To The Flag To Be Weekly Affair In State Legislature

LANSING (AP)—The state Senate backed away slightly from its decision to pledge allegiance to the flag before each day's session this year.

The chamber, changing its mind in 24 hours, decided to take the pledge only once a week.

Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing) convinced the Senate to make the change.

"It has occurred to me," Hittle said, "that this formality every day may have a tendency to depreciate the solemnity of the pledge, making it altogether too casual an event."

Sen. Frank Heath (R-Bay City), who sponsored the daily pledge, agreed to the change.

Hawks Nipped 6-5 By Marquette In Rough Ice Clash

Where the Marquette Sentinels are concerned, the Escanaba Hawks just don't live right. They can do everything against Marquette, but they can't beat them. Last night was living proof of that fact. Trailing 2-0 after the first period, the Hawks battled back to tie the count at 2-2 in the first half of the second period. The Sentinels scored three more times in the second while the Hawks hit for one and Marquette was leading 5-3 going into the final canto.

Defenses Lapse
The visitors stretched it to 6-3 and then the Hawks got mad. They turned on a furious assault that netted two goals and they had numerous other chances to score—but that puck just wouldn't go in and Escanaba lost its fourth straight to the Sentinels, 6-5.

Escanaba's defenses, which had appeared to be more effective in games of late, slacked off again last night and goalie Ben Artwich felt the pressure. He faced 52 Marquette shots in the game and turned back 46 of them.

The first three scores registered by Marquette came with either two or three Sentinels bearing down on Artwich without a defenseman in sight. The Hawks' goalie was beaten on break-aways by Jim Swenor and Jim Eady and by Buckey O'Neill, Gale Lawrence and Swenor in the first period.

Olsons Tie It Up
The Olson brothers, Mark and Ted, tied it up for the Hawks early in the second when Mark took a double pass from Ted and Joe Ricci to score at 7:25 and Ted scored from back of the blue line when both teams were short a man.

Again the Sentinels sent two men down on Artwich with Cud VanOverloop scoring on a pass from Johnny Vasseau. The Sentinels made it 4-2 when young Ron Johnson lofted a screen shot into a high corner of the net.

Ted Olson hit again for the Hawks on a scrimmage shot but Roy Olson and Vasseau drove in on Artwich and Olson scored to give the Sentinels a 5-3 lead.

Make Final Bid
After Roy Olson scored at 2:24 of the final period, the Hawks made their last bid for victory. Ricci clicked on a whistling shot after taking a feather pass from Mark Olson with Marquette's Bob Quinn serving a penalty. Jim Ogle broke into the scoring column at 13:40 on another pass from Mark Olson.

In the remaining time the Hawks kept the pressure on and had Marquette goalie Sonny Bater in hot water several times but failed to connect.

Oddly enough, Bater had his busiest time in the first period in which he turned back all 11 Escanaba shots. He stopped nine in the second period in which the Hawks scored three times and he kicked

Wene And Wilman Lead Keg Tourney Qualifiers

CHICAGO (P)—Pudgy Wene of Philadelphia and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia and veteran Joe Wilman of Berwyn, Ill., were the No. 1 finishers as the qualifying for the National Individual Match Game bowling championships ended early today.

For the third time Miss Wene paced the 14 women finalists into today's head-to-head match play by totaling 4,680 for the 24-game route.

Miss Wene added a 780 to her earlier 791 to move past Tess Johns of Cleveland, who had led since the opening day. Mrs. Johns, a southpaw, was 26 pins back in second place with 4654.

Constant Threat
Miss Wene led the qualifying in 1950 and 1951. She was exempt from qualifying in 1952, as runner-up the previous year. Wilman, champion in 1945, totaling 7,336 to pace the men for the

Both Teams Handicapped By Illness

Eskymos, Trojans Set For Home Cage Stands

Jim Bolm Still Out Of Action

A pair of attractive home games highlights the weekend basketball picture for Escanaba prep fans.

Both home teams will be handicapped by illness. Coach Burt Gustafson's Eskymos are the hardest hit with the loss of high-scoring center Jim Bolm who has not yet recovered from a seige of sickness that kept him out of the Menominee game last week.

Bolm Still Sick
Bolm's place in the Eskymo center slot will be filled by Jim Finn and Arni Dunathan, who alternated at center against the Maroons. Bill Savard, senior playing basketball for the first time, earned a starting berth with his 22-point scoring performance at Menominee. He will likely be paired at forward with Bill LeMire. Other Eskymos available for duty are Tom Gregoire, Jim Beck, Mike Heminger, Greg Anspaugh, Jim Mongrain, Jerry Guindon, John Dulek and Pat McDonough.

The Ishpeming Hematites have lost their last two starts to Marquette and Newberry and are in the midst of one of their worst seasons in years.

At St. Joe, Coach Tom St. Germain may be without the services of Bill Maycunich, first line reserve guard, who is still out with a sore throat.

Mussatto Top Scorer
Gwinn is one of St. Joe's annually tough foes and this year enters the game with a record of six wins against two defeats. Coach Paul Thurston's cagers will face Rock Friday night before invading Bonifas gym.

Gwinn has one of the Upper Peninsula's most dangerous scorers in Barry Mussatto, a junior forward. Mussatto scored 24 points in a one-point win over Felch last week to bring his total for the season to 191, an average of 23.9 per game. That's good for fourth place in the U. P. scoring race.

St. Joe will start with the same lineup that paved the way to a 73-49 victory over Gladstone last weekend. St. Germain will have sophomore John Berrigan at center, Dave Hick and Dick Bryson at forwards, Dick Cass and Jim Zimmerman at guards.

Bess Big Gun
Gwinn will use Jahk Ghiardi at a forward with Mussatto, Jack Nordeen at center, John Bianchi and Marjomaki at guards.

Ishpeming's big gun on offense is Loren Bess, senior guard, who has scored 172 points for a 21.5 average this season, seventh best in the Upper Peninsula. Likely starters with Bess are Gerald Johnson and Pohlman at forwards, Vito Frustaglio at center and Gave Garceau at guard.

Both the games will start at 8:30 with preliminary contests scheduled for 7 on each night. Officials for the Escanaba game will be Tom Paternoster and Dutch Cummings of Kingsford.

Emeralds Eye First Great Lakes Victory Over Munising Quint

MANISTIQUE — With only one victory to their credit thus far, the Manistique Emeralds will be girded here Friday night in an all-out effort to claim their first Great Lakes conference victory of the season.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's men, who took a 49-30 win from the Canadian Sox last Friday night, play the Munising Mustangs in a conference tilt slated for 8:30 p. m., at Manistique High School gym.

Engadine Tops Paradise 57-22

ENGADINE — Engadine ran up a 57-22 basketball victory over Paradise here last night in a game which saw 20 players in action for the two teams.

Engadine's Hancock took scoring honors with 18 points as his team grabbed a 12-4 first quarter lead and was never headed.

East Quint Favored In All-Star Clash

NEW YORK (P)—The annual East-West All-Star game of the National Basketball Association is scheduled for Madison Square Garden tonight and if reputations mean anything, the eastern delegation should win it.

Coach Joe Lapchick of the New York Knickerbockers, who is directing the East team, boasts nine of the loop's top 11 point-getters.

The East will start Adolph Schayes of Syracuse, Ed Macauley of Boston, Ray Felix of Baltimore, Bob Cousy of Boston and Dick McGuire of New York. The lineup averages 6 feet 5 4-5 inches.

The remainder of the squad includes Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, Paul Seymour of Syracuse, Carl Braun of New York, Bill Sharman of Boston and Harry Galatin of New York.

Johnston is the top scorer in the league, followed by Macauley, Cousy and Felix. Sharman is sixth, Schayes seventh, Braun ninth, Galatin tenth and Seymour eleventh.

The West team, coached by John Kundla of Minneapolis, figures to rely on George Mikan to lead the attack. The other West starters will be Mel Hutchins of Fort Wayne, Jim Pollard of Minneapolis, and Bob Wanzer and Bob Davies, both of Rochester. The remaining members of the team are Andy Philip of Fort Wayne, Don Sunderlage of Milwaukee, Arnie Risen of Rochester, Larry Foust of Fort Wayne and Slater Martin of Minneapolis.

The game will not be televised. The only league game scheduled for Wednesday night—Milwaukee at Baltimore—was postponed. The Hawks plane was grounded by fog in Chicago.

Unranked Heavyweight Upsets Danny Nardico

MIAMI BEACH (P)—Charley Norkus, unranked and underrated, whipped Danny Nardico, a top contender for the light heavyweight title, Wednesday night in one of the bloodiest bouts ever staged in south Florida. There were eight knockdowns.

The Bayonne, N.J. heavyweight battered Nardico with smashing rights and slammed him to the canvas six times before referee Jimmy Peorless stopped the fight at 2:15 of the ninth, giving Norkus a technical knockout. The non-televised fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Both Fighters Down
But it wasn't a one-sided affair. Both fighters took a lot of punishment and were bleeding freely. Norkus went down twice under Nardico's powerful punches.

Norkus weighed 197 pounds, 15½ more than Nardico, who had been clamoring for a title fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano. It was Nardico's 11th defeat in 62 professional fights.

Danny said he wanted to fight Norkus again. "I don't think they should have stopped it," he said. Norkus admitted he was hurt in the fourth when Nardico caught him with a stiff right.

Nardico No. 4
Packing the kick of a mule in his right, the New Jersey puncher floored Nardico once in the second round, three times in the third and twice more in the ninth.

Nardico, rated No. 4 among the light heavy contenders, rallied in the fourth and floored Norkus. In the seventh, Nardico connected with a one-two series and Norkus was lying on his back at the bell.

After going down twice in the ninth, Nardico was on his feet but defenseless when the referee stopped the slaughter.

Your Income Tax Primer

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the 11th of 13 articles in NEA's 13th annual Income Tax Primer, prepared by a top-notch Washington tax authority and designed for use with the official tax rule pamphlet.

By RICHARD A. MULLEN
NEA Income Tax Expert

Before deciding which tax return to use for reporting your 1953 income, you should know:

1. What to report as income.
2. What deductions you can claim.

The previous Primer articles help you with those items. This article helps you choose and fill out your tax return.

A simple chart printed with Article 2 told the best form to use if your income is under $5000. Check over your answers on the chart to make sure they are correct. If your deductions are close to 10 per cent of your income, it is best to compute your tax on both Short Form 1040 and Long Form 1040 (with itemized deductions) and then use whichever gives the smaller tax.

Remember, if your income is over $5000 you must use Long Form 1040.

Those of you using Form 1040A (printed on yellow paper) will not have to compute your tax. Just fill it in showing your name and address and exemptions and income. The District Director of Internal Revenue will use the tax table printed on the back of Form 1040 to compute your tax and send you a refund or a bill depending on whether too much tax or too little tax was withheld from your pay.

The tax table automatically gives you a $600 credit for each exemption and a deduction of about 10 per cent of your income for such items as contributions, medical expenses and the like.

Before attaching your Form W-2 to the return, add up the amounts shown as deducted for Social Security Tax (F.I.C.A. employee tax). No one person is supposed to pay more than $54 for such tax in 1953. If you worked for more than one employer, it is quite likely that you have had more than $54 deducted for F.I.C.A. tax. In such case, follow the instructions on the reverse of Form 1040A and you will be given credit for any excess.

Those of you using the Short Form 1040 should fill in pages 1 and 2 showing all your exemp-

EVERY TAXPAYER MUST MAKE THIS CHOICE.

SHALL I ITEMIZE MY DEDUCTIONS, OR SHOULD I USE THE STANDARD DEDUCTION?

Just follow the simple instructions at the top of the Table and be sure to select the exemption column that corresponds to the number of exemptions you claim on page 1. Then enter the tax in Item 5, on page 1. The last few steps necessary to complete your Short Form 1040 will be described in tomorrow's article.

Those of you who itemize deductions or who have incomes in excess of $5000 must use the tax computation schedule on page 3 of the return to compute your tax.

The first step in using the tax computation schedule is to enter on Line 1 your adjusted gross income as shown in Item 4, page 1.

Ex-Lawmakers Join Lobbies

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY WASHINGTON—(CQ)—Several former Congressmen now hold key positions in Washington with transportation interests.

By lobbying on the Hill or providing legal and public relations advice, they are helping to inform Congress and the public of their employers' views on transportation legislation.

Former Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont., 1923-46) is currently serving as counsel for railroads and other firms. His law firm, Wheeler and Wheeler, early in 1953 registered under the lobby law on behalf of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., and has filed for other rail groups.

In the aviation field, ex-Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo., 1934-52) is working as a director of North American Airlines. O'Mahoney, who heads his own law firm, told Congressional Quarterly Jan. 5 that he provides legal advice to his company. He has registered as a lobbyist.

Another former Senator, Claude D. Pepper (D-Fla., 1936-50) has acted as general counsel for the Air Coach Transport Association.

Two former legislators now working for waterways interests are ex-Rep. Chester C. Thompson (D-Ill., 1933-38) and former Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor (D-Md., 1947-52). Thompson, a registered lobbyist, is president and legislative representative of American Waterways Operators, Inc., and makes frequent contacts with Congress. O'Connor is counsel for the American Merchant Marine Institute.

An interest in all fields of transport activity is taken by ex-Rep. Clarence Lea (D-Calif., 1917-48). Lea works as legislative counsel for the Transportation Association of America, a group whose members include railroad, trucking, waterways and air lines officials interested in efforts to develop areas of agreement on transportation policy.

What you enter in Line 2 is important. You have a choice of showing either your itemized deductions or one of the amounts shown in (a) or (b) of the instructions with Line 2. Use whichever gives you the larger deduction.

You can change your method of computation from itemized deductions to standard deductions and vice versa any time before the statute of limitations expires, which is normally three years from the time your return is due.

For example, suppose your itemized deductions are $611 while your standard deduction (10 per cent of income) is $590. You should itemize and claim the $611 deductions. Suppose also that a year or two later you or a revenue agent discovers that an additional $1000 should have been reported as income in 1953.

This would increase your standard deduction by $100 (10 per cent of $1000) making it $690. Since the standard deduction would then be larger than your itemized deductions, you could change to the larger one in making your new computation.

Fill out the remainder of the tax computation schedule of page 3 following the instructions opposite each line and you will end up on Line 13 with your 1953 income tax. You have probably paid all or most of the tax through withholdings or payments on estimated tax.

Tomorrow's article will show you how to figure whether you owe more tax or have a refund coming.

Tax Primer Q. & A.

Q. Which gives the smaller tax, Form 1040A or Short Form 1040?

A. Neither, the tax is the same.

Q. My wife and I both work. Can we file separate returns using the tax table for one return and itemizing all our deductions on the other.

A. No. If either husband or wife itemizes deductions, the other must also.

Young Quits C&O To Control NYC

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert R. Young, clear of all connections with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, is now free to achieve his ambition of controlling the New York Central System—if he can.

The 56-year-old Texas-born financier announced Tuesday night that he and a group of associates are quitting the C&O and severing all ties that have kept him from sitting on the Central board.

The C&O announced that Young had resigned as board chairman of the C&O. With him went his companion in an astonishing rise to power, Allan P. Kirby, who stepped out as president of the railroad.

For years Young—the most discussed and unorthodox figure in American railroading—has talked of controlling the Central.

The extent of Young's present holdings of New York Central stock could not be learned immediately.

Rowdism Breaks Out In Detroit Basketball Games

DETROIT (AP)—A new outbreak of rowdism following prep basketball games brought the arrest of 21 juveniles Tuesday, including seven girls.

The girls and five boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16 were arrested after an intra-school basketball game at Foch Intermediate School. The nine others were arrested after a parochial league night game between Visitation and Cathedral Central.

Four pocket knives were confiscated from the latter group. Police said the students were Catholic Central but none attended Visitation.

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—The Swedish parliament has appointed a committee of experts to study whether Sweden should change from its present system of a left-hand rule of the road to right-hand driving like its Scandinavian neighbors and other countries of continental Europe.
